DICEY RILEY

Chorus

```
  D                              A          D
Poor aul Dicey Riley she has taken to the sup,
  A                              D
Poor aul Dicey Riley she will never give it up
It's off next morning to the hock and she drops in for another little drop,
        D                             A  D
Ah the heart of the poor aul Dicey Riley

       D                                        A            D
She walks along Fitzgibbon Street with an independent air,
       A                                        D
And then it's down by Summerhill and the people stop and stare.
                                               A
She says "It's nearly half past one, and it's time I had another little one"
        D                            A  D
Ah the heart of the rule is Dicey Riley.
```
